Sixteen-year-old Binswa lives in Nepal.

She lives in poverty. She is illiterate. She has no voice.

Given these circumstances, her chances of being trafficked for sex into neighboring India are high. Men will line up and pay to have her.

And, she doesn't know Christ's love.

Yet there is HOPE

Girls like Binswa can escape this hopeless situation . . . through the life-changing help YOU and other friends provide.

Thanks to the She Is Safe programs your support makes possible, countless girls in Nepal now have hope and a future . . .

- Kwini attends a She Is Safe-sponsored school. She dreams of becoming a teacher.
- Druri raises and sells goats provided by She Is Safe. She can now buy food and other necessities.
- Chantini learned to sew and started a tailoring business. She can afford to send her daughters to school.

Is there such a future in store for Binsa?

There's a price to pay

Transformation from hard places doesn't come easy. There is a price to pay for a young teacher to trek up into villages tucked away from the world. To purchase goats and get them to those most in need. For a follower of Christ to serve in a restrictive country.

PAYING THE PRICE

Human trafficking is an illegal industry based on greed and perversion. In the places where we work, girls are a valuable commodity because of the price men will pay for them.

For as little as $50, traffickers buy girls living in remote villages and poor communities. Desperate parents take the money and watch as their daughter walks away into a horrible, joyless future.

Who will pay the price to intervene and stop this evil practice?

What a joy to know that together, we can intervene! The same parents who are willing to sell their daughters are also willing to generate Jesus gave Himself as the ultimate sacrifice for everyone . . . including girls like Binsa.

THANKS TO YOUR SUPPORT, DRURI OF NEPAL LEARNED HOW TO RAISE AND SELL GOATS AND IS NOW ABLE TO PROVIDE FOR HER FAMILY.

Your gift at work

When you give, you make it possible for She Is Safe to work in communities like Binsa's, helping vulnerable girls to be:

- Well-fed
- Educated
- Protected from being sold

Thank you for paying the price to help girls like Binsa discover their true worth.

income in a different way . . . to watch their daughter walk forward to school or to learn a trade.

These life changing opportunities are possible because you and other generous friends who are willing to pay the price. Thank you!

THE EPICENTER OF SEX TRAFFICKING

In the foothills of the Himalayas is a shared international border between India, Nepal, Bangladesh, Bhutan and China. This area is a notorious corridor of human trafficking.

Traffickers operate undetected, duping or coercing girls who are seeking employment. The girls disappear, and their families never see them again.

YOU can intervene today to help save vulnerable girls and transform communities. (Learn more on the back page.)

ADVOCATE SPOTLIGHT: KATHY JENNINGS, ROSWELL, GA

"I first learned about She Is Safe in 2016 as I was preparing for a mission trip to India," says Kathy. "In preparation for the trip, our team members read Michele Rickett's book, Forgotten Girls, to learn about human trafficking. When I discovered that She Is Safe was located in my hometown, I knew I wanted to find out more about the ministry."

Today, Kathy serves as a SIS Advocate, raising support and awareness for She Is Safe.

Kathy, along with a group of women at her church, has hosted awareness fundraising events, including a BBQ and Auction, Ladies Night Out, Bake Sale and Women's Tea. "I also use my skills as a graphic designer to produce a monthly newsletter specifically for Advocates, which includes specific prayer requests from each country where She Is Safe works."
